

We were very fortunate to have been referred to Canine Water Wellness by our veterinarian.

Our 12 year-old golden retriever, Praline, has advanced arthritis in her back legs. We could see that walking was painful for her. With pain management and anti-inflammatory medication, she still was limited in her motion until one day she could not get up by herself.

We tried leg braces and a wheel chair but to no avail. We were crestfallen thinking we had to make the horrible decision. Beside her back leg problem, our beautiful retirement companion was healthy and happy, if not mortified to need our help to walk.

Lianne Zitzelsberger and Jennifer Donaldson from Canine Water Wellness were very reassuring in our distress. Their knowledge, professionalism and kindness to us and our Praline helped us tremendously.

After the second treatment, Praline improved sufficiently to get up by herself and walked a little. Under the careful management of Lianne and Jennifer, she gradually built up her leg muscles that had weakened with her inaction. After several treatments she now runs to the ladies for her treatments and whines to get in the pool, to all our delight. She gets up by herself now, walks around our property and greets her dog friends at the curb. We have our happy companion back for a while longer, for which we are most grateful.

We heartily recommend Canine Water Wellness, and we do so to all the people we know with a dog who is having similar problems. Thank you so much for helping our beloved Praline.
